The annual Family Carnival is back!
Families, big and small, look forward to this carnival of fun activities and performances.

It is a carnival that cannot be missed!

There is one event at the carnival that the Bunny family looks forward to the most – the family singing competition!

The Bunny siblings have suggested doing something different this year. They want to put up a performance with Grandpa and Grandma.

Living near Grandpa and Grandma allows them to meet to practise singing. They have lots of fun rehearsing their song and making their costumes.

LET'S REFLECT

The Bunny family made time to plan and rehearse together for the singing competition.

-  Have you tried working on a goal together with your family?
-  Were there times when your family planned something but did not complete it? Why?

Finally, it is the day of the Family Carnival!

Becky Bunny wonders what new rides would be at the carnival.

Big Brother is curious about what costumes other families would wear.

Little Brother hopes his favourite carrot chocolate pudding would be at the carnival. It is the yummiest!

There are many things to carry to the carnival, but everyone in the Bunny family plays their part and helps one another.

This is heavy. I need some help.

Let me help you.

LET'S REFLECT

Becky Bunny helped Little Brother when she saw him struggling.

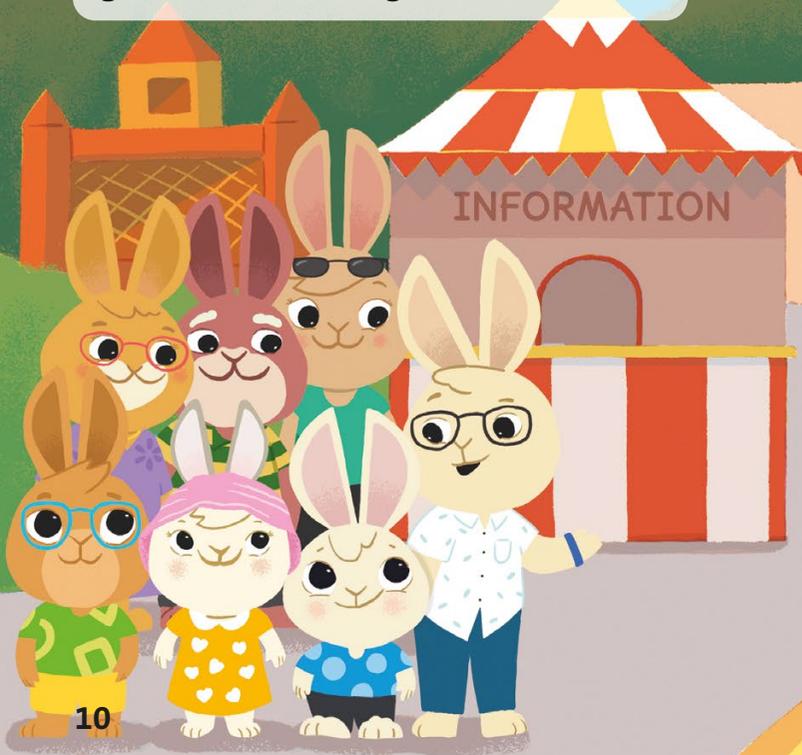

Do you help your family members when you see or hear of a need?

There is a big crowd at the carnival. "Stay close, little ones," Dad reminds the Bunny siblings.

"Meet me at this counter if you get lost," Dad says.

The Bunny family makes its way to the stage to register for the singing competition.

The sight fills the Bunny siblings with excitement.

Becky Bunny wants to jump into the colourful ball pit!

Big Brother loves the knights' light sticks duel.

Little Brother wishes to ride on the mini-train.

“Registration done!” Mum says.

The Bunny family members have changed into their costumes. There is still some time before their performance.

Big Brother asks to watch the knights' duel while Little Brother asks to go on the mini-train ride.

Grandma and Grandpa say they need a rest from all the walking.

Becky Bunny volunteers to sit with Grandma and Grandpa near the stage while Dad and Mum go with Big Brother and Little Brother.

LET'S REFLECT

Becky Bunny volunteered to stay with Grandma and Grandpa.

 Why do you think she did that?

She watches the bubbles in the air around her.

Grandpa smiles and says, "Go on and play with the bubbles."

Becky Bunny gets up gleefully and dances around the bubbles. Just then, some coloured balls from the ball pit catch her eye.

Quietly, Becky Bunny slips away to the nearby ball pit while Grandpa and Grandma's backs are turned.

"Wheel!" Becky Bunny squeals with delight, jumping into the ball pit.

It is almost their turn to perform. Dad, Mum, Big Brother and Little Brother race back to the stage to meet the rest of the Bunny family.

"Let's show them what we have practised," Dad cheers.

“Where is Becky Bunny?”
asks Mum.

“She was right here playing with the bubbles,” says Grandma, looking surprised. No one knows where Becky Bunny has gone.

The competition is about to start. What should they do?

“We can sing without Becky Bunny.
We might still win,” Little Brother suggests.

However, Dad says firmly, “Let us find Becky Bunny! I’m worried.”

Becky Bunny hears the competition starting over the speakers, but it is so crowded she cannot find her family. Where should she go?

LET'S REFLECT

Little Brother wanted to join the competition without Becky Bunny. Dad wanted to look for Becky Bunny. What would you do?

Dad waits anxiously at the information counter.

“Dad!”

Dad turns around at the familiar voice. It is Becky Bunny!

Bursting into tears, Becky Bunny says, “Thank you for finding me!”

You are more important to us than the competition.

INFORMATION

“Oh no, we missed the competition!” she cries.

“I am so sorry for leaving without telling anyone. Now our practice and costumes have gone to waste,” Becky Bunny says between her sobs.

Dad hugs Becky Bunny. “You are more important to us than the competition. You must not run off on your own again.”

LET'S REFLECT

The Bunny family showed commitment by finding Becky Bunny first.

Do you put your family first?

“Well, there is still something that we can try together,” Big Brother suggests, pointing to a sign.

“The three-legged race! Let’s go!” Becky Bunny says.

The Bunny family members pair up while Little Brother takes pictures to capture memories of the race.

At the sound of the horn, they race as fast as they can! Cheers and laughter fill the air.

“We are there for one another in good times and bad times!” Little Brother says as he snaps a picture. “Smile!”

As for their song, the Bunny family has shared it with their friends and neighbours.

You can hear them sing too!

Scan the QR code to sing and dance to the song, I Value My Family.

FROM ADULT TO CHILD

Care and Concern

Showing care and concern means helping when we see a need. Adults can show acts of care and concern to children too.

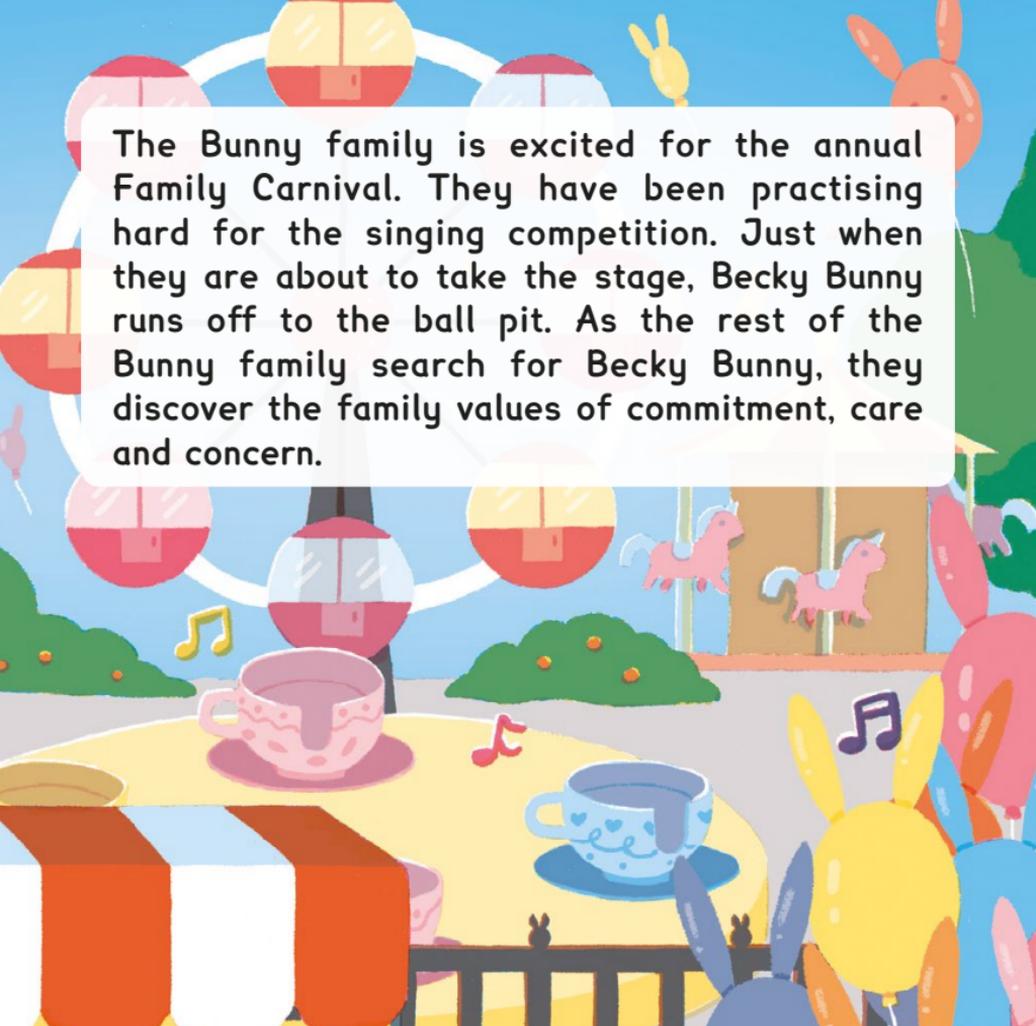

Some ways of showing care and concern are asking after or sitting beside your family member who is sad, helping out with chores or carrying groceries.

Commitment

Showing commitment to our family means being together in both good and bad times.

Some ways of showing commitment are helping your family member look for a lost item or making time for regular family meals.

The Bunny family is excited for the annual Family Carnival. They have been practising hard for the singing competition. Just when they are about to take the stage, Becky Bunny runs off to the ball pit. As the rest of the Bunny family search for Becky Bunny, they discover the family values of commitment, care and concern.
